

Brona Shaw

Deputy Director of Nursing
Belfast Health and Social Care Trust

Brona trained as a nurse in 1988 at the Royal School of Nursing, based in the Royal Victoria Hospital after which she moved to England and then Scotland where she worked as a nurse in a range of settings.

Qualifying as a Midwife in 1998 from Napier University Edinburgh, Brona returned to Northern Ireland where she worked in the South Eastern Trust as midwife in the acute and community setting until 2012 during which time she studied part time to achieve a Bsc (Hons) in Midwifery Studies.

Going on to achieve an Msc on Inter-professional Health and Social Care Studies from Queens University in 2012, her research was used by the Northern Ireland Professional Education Centre (NIPEC) to inform the implementation of the Maternity Strategy NI (2012-18).

Brona has served as an elected Board Member and Trustee for the Royal College of Midwives.

Having an interest in improving patient outcomes while enhancing staff satisfaction through collaborative and collective working, Brona has progressed her career in the area of Patient Experience and Governance.

Brona was the regional lead for 10,000 voices, which has been widely recognised as being a key influence on the improvement of Patient Experience.
