

Jessica Foote

Jessica Foote Associate Director of Nursing and Midwifery Undergraduate Education
RN, SCPHN, BSc, MA

Jessica is a registered adult Nurse, Health Visitor, and a Nurse Teacher. She completed for her masters in Practice Education from London South Bank University in 2019.

Jessica trained at Bart's and Royal London; Jessica's postgraduate career focused on Trauma and Orthopaedic nursing before moving into Education.

Jessica is passionate about all things NHS she believes education is the key to sustaining the NHS. She believes it vital to empower staff within the NHS through education as staff are the most valuable asset to the NHS.

Jessica is a big advocate of the Nursing Associate role and widening participation into the NHS through apprenticeships routes.

Jessica's ambition is to influence policy to create more opportunity for people to reach their full potential and remove barriers so people can undertake a health career.